What we Collect & How we Use it

We collect several different types of information for various purposes to provide and improve our service to you. We gather this information to allow us to process your request. The relevant information is then used by us to provide you with the service you have requested and to communicate with you on any matter relating to the provision of the service in general.

We may use your Personal Data to contact you with newsletters, marketing or promotional materials and other information that may be of interest to you. You may opt out of receiving any, or all, of these communications from us by following the unsubscribe link or instructions provided in any email we send or by contacting us.

We may also use aggregate information and statistics for the purposes of monitoring website usage to help us develop the website and our service and may provide such aggregate information to third parties. These statistics will not include information that can be used to identify any individual.

- We may obtain information about you from third parties, such as public databases, social media platforms, third party data providers and our marketing partners. We may use this information, alone or in combination with other information described above, to develop or provide more relevant platform features or services (e.g. social media data of end-users allowing you to send more relevant content) or provide more relevant marketing and content to you. Our websites include social media features (either hosted by a third party or hosted directly on our website), which may collect information about your IP address and which page you are visiting. The feature may set a cookie to make sure the feature functions properly. We also maintain presences on social media platforms including Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram. Your interactions with these platforms are governed by the privacy policies of the companies that provide them. Anything you submit to us via a social media platform is done so at your own risk without any expectation of privacy. Further, any comments or information you supply on any blog that we operate can be read, used or collected by anyone. If your information appears in our blog pages and you want it removed, contact us at info@medikitglobal.com.

Financial Details

We do not store credit card details nor do we share customer financial details with any 3rd parties.

- To provide you with news, special offers and general information about other goods, services and events which we offer.

Reasons we can collect and use your personal information

- In relation to clients, the lawful basis for which we rely on to collect and process your data is typically performance of our contractual obligations. If you are not a client, we rely on legitimate interest as the lawful basis on which we collect and use your personal data in relation to us contacting you further in certain situations. Our legitimate interests are usually to provide individuals with details of our products or offers related to your interests. If you are an individual, the basis on which we collect and use your personal data to contact you is often consent. If you have any questions about the lawful basis on which we are processing your personal data, please contact info@medikitglobal.com.

How we Protect your Information

Any information sent to us is protected using robust security methods. The methods we use are industry-standard ensuring data is safeguarded as much as possible whilst being sent over unprotected communications paths such as the internet. When it reaches us, we store it securely and only provide access to it by those authorised.

Do we Disclose any Information to Outside Parties?

We do not sell, trade, or otherwise transfer to outside parties your personally identifiable information. We may release your information when we believe release is appropriate to comply with the law, enforce our site policies, or protect ours or other rights, property, or safety or matters of national security.

Transfer of your information out of the EEA

Your personal information may be stored and processed in any country where we have facilities or service providers, and by using our service or by providing consent to us (where required by law), you agree to the transfer of information to countries outside of your country of residence, including to the United States, which may provide for different data protection rules than in your country. Please note that all our entities operate under Standard Contractual Clauses and applicable measures of the GDPR providing protections and safeguards for cross-border transfers. We take all steps reasonably necessary to ensure that your data is treated securely and in accordance with this privacy policy.

Retention of Data

Quick Energy Technologies Ltd will retain your personal data only for as long as is necessary for the purposes set out in this Privacy Policy and generally for no longer than 7 years. We will retain and use your personal data to the extent necessary to comply with our legal obligations (for example, if we are required to retain your data to comply with applicable laws), resolve disputes, and enforce our legal agreements and policies.

Quick Energy Technologies Ltd will also retain usage data for internal analysis purposes. Usage data is generally retained for a shorter period, except when this data is used to strengthen the security or to improve the functionality of our service, or we are legally obligated to retain this data for longer time periods. Generally, we will retain this data for no longer than 7 years.

Changes

If we change our Privacy Policy, we will update the changes on this page and we may also place notices on other pages of the website so that you can at any time check our current policy. If we make any changes that may significantly affect the way we deal with your information, we will also email you to notify you of the proposed changes, so that you may have your details removed from our records if you do not agree with the changes. This version was updated on 04/04/2020.
